HARVEST FESTIVAL
BEGINS THURSDAY.

The Middlesboro Merchants' Association is doing constructive work in staging the Harvest Festival which begins Thursday morning, a work that will not only advertise Middlesboro and induce residents of the outlying sections to make this their trade center but one which also stimulates interest in agricultural pursuits, livestock and poultry raising in the rural sections.

Considering the careful planning of every detail of the coming fair, the painstaking work that has been used to promote exhibitions and amusements that will appeal to urban as well as rural residents, there is little doubt that the event will be a big success. If the weather permits, the three days of the Harvest Festival promises to result in one of the greatest community gar-therings ever held here.

Middlesboro people are deeply indebted to the Merchants' Association for their altruistic work in staging the annual fairs here, for the public fair is an advertising event from which every resident regardless of the nature of his work or business, directly or indirectly reaps benefits.

This brings us to a question that has been discussed by business men here recently: That of organizing a permanent fair association.

And why not?
Practically all, if not all, towns which promote annual fairs have an organization which plans and manages the enterprise. Such an organization is a corporation, managed from a business viewpoint much the same as a private enterprise. All residents of the town are eligible for shareholders and the men particularly qualified for the work form its officers and directors.

Such a step would eliminate a vast amount of work and expense from the Merchants' association, as a body. Its officers and members being qualified for the work, would doubtless take a leading part in the fair association.
At any rate, the proposition is worth earnest consideration.

JUDGE SAMPSON
URGES REFORMS

Chief Justice Compares U. S. Law Enforcement With English Procedure.

Associated Press.
FRANKFORT, Oct. 6.—Chief Justice Sampson of the Kentucky Court of Appeals says he has never seen a jury convict an innocent man in all his long years of service.
"I have had long experience as judge and many times have been called upon to pronounce sentence on criminals sent to the penitentiary and to the death chair," he said in an interview today, commenting on what he said are recent deplorable conditions in criminal practice.

One of the principal defects of the present criminal law is the allowing of only five challenges to the Commonwealth, with fifteen to the accused, according to the chief justice.

The shrewd lawyer always is prepared to object or see that citizens of the highest ideals are excused from jury service, he said.
He pointed to the English system where the accused is caged, away from kinfolk, while her grandparents and grandchildren often sit

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

By HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Army and navy officials are, unofficially, having no little fun out of the army's most stirred up by Rear Admiral Charles Plunkett, commandant of the Third Naval District at New York. In seeking to censor a broadway play in which certain marines indulged in language and discuss situations so startling as to marry corps as a medium of moral uplift.

The "Old Tars" and "Devil Dogs" about the Navy building are getting a lot of snickers out of Plunkett's efforts, particularly to ex-purgate the profanity in the play.

They concede that as an officer of long experience, Plunkett probably is an expert judge of profanity, but most of them were under the impression that he had lost his sensitivity to strong language, even by men in uniform.

That profanity is not unknown in the service, and that it is even indulged in, under provocation, by high officers, is asserted by one officer who recalls that when Admiral Plunkett was in command of the big naval guns which Uncle Sam sent up to the front on railway mounts, shortly before the armistice, he himself was moved to picturesque and expressive expletives on one occasion when one of the big guns wouldn't fire.

"But," observes an officer of the marines, "the cussin' done by Plunkett when the gun wouldn't go off wasn't a whisper to the stuff our boys ripped out when the thing was fired."

"I was with an outfit of 75 artillery that had its horses packed about a quarter of a mile from where his Naval Nibs had his big rovers lined up, and when those babies cut loose—wow!"

"The concussion blew our puppents away. It gave us headaches.
It woke us out of a sound sleep after 35 hours of hauling ammunition.
It attracted German bombers. It played hell with the horses.
From battery commander down to the lowest rear-rank private we all blasted the admiral from stem to stern. We raked him and his crew with all the cuss words we had known before enlistment, with others we had learned in a year and a half of service, and with still others which bubbled up out of sheer inspiration.

"How the admiral must have changed since those days, to let a few ordinary book cuss words get his goat?"

"The admiral's concern over the "welfare of the service," through possible slight cast upon it by the play in question, also stirs an old sidekick of his to reminiscence.

"Where is the admiral's sense of humor," this old officer inquires.
"Just because a play intimates that our marines drink and have their little affairs he fears this will stop enlistments. When he was supervising marine construction in dear old Quincy, Mass., he knew better than that."

And does he remember the trip of the special squadron to France 18 years ago?"

Just what those old timers recall or claim to recall in their "kidding" of Plunkett and his moral crusade against "What Price Glory" would make almost as thrilling a play as the drama against which the admiral has turned his heavy batteries.

His navy fellows are enjoying it fully. Doubtless the producer of the play is also for the publicity he has given it, is packing the place to the galleries each night. And far from harming enlistments, it may be helping them.

"After seeing that play," one visitor remarked as he stumbled out of the theatre, "I'd join the marines myself if I was five years younger and not married. Yes, even if I was just five years younger."

Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Jimmy O'Connell, giant outfielder banished from baseball after confessing an attempt to throw the game to Philadelphia Nationals, declared today he delayed his departure for California because of a letter alleged to have been written by a gambler to a newspaper here.

The anonymous letter declared a certain group wanted that New York would win the pennant by two games, that $5,000 was paid the Giants player in the bribe effort.
The letter insisted that O'Connell was only the goat. The gamblers became worried when the New York team was crippled late in the season.

Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Zev Harry Shulz's noted car, was accidentally poisoned with wood alcohol last spring, it became known today. The wood alcohol was applied to the strained tendon of the right foreleg, resulting in swelling to twice the normal size the following morning. Trainer Sam Hildreth said. Analysis of the remainder of the alcohol disclosed that it was wood instead of grain as the order specified. The owner estimated that Zev had lost several hundred thousands of dollars this season because of the poisoning.

of Paris, Texas, succeeds Rev. W.

of a forecast as made by The Sen-Knickerbocker is one of the strongest men in the church, and Knox-

REIGN OF TERROR

Kiangsu Offensive Assumed Form

Well Prepared in Munitions.

Associated Press.
SHANGHAI, Oct. 4.—Offensive for which the invading Kiangsu forces are attempting to capture Shanghai have been gathering men and munitions for three days started last night southwest of Sung-kiang, thirty-five miles south of Shanghai.

The defending Chekiang forces were forced to retreat two miles to new positions after intense fighting during the night. Both sides employed artillery. The railway station of Sunkiang was a bedlam of terrorized residents and the remains of thousands of refugees who previously fled to Shanghai.

As the offensive of the Kiangsu forces proceeded, it assumed the aspect of a general engagement, observers reported. On the front west of Shanghai occasional firing was reported but the Kiangsu offensive expected to reach that quarter today had not yet developed.

Women Rush to Renowned Police Department for Jobs—Get Encouragement.

Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—English women, aroused by a desire to enlarge the long restricted horizon of their activities, are rushing pell-mell to Scotland Yard these days in an endeavor to enlist in the Metropolitan Police Force at the very fountain head of police administration in England.

Their endeavors are a little premature. Nevertheless, they are greatly encouraged by a committee report recommending increase in the number of women "hobbies," at present very small. But parliament must enact the necessary legislation to provide for the salaries of the police women before actual recruiting can commence.

Subscribers, Investors And Company Have A Mutual Interest

BECAUSE there is a large investment in telephone property in Kentucky, there exists a popular impression that the Telephone Company possesses great money wealth.

The only revenue the Telephone Company receives is the money the public pays for the service.

The only funds the Company has to expend for extensions and new additions to its plant is the money it can induce investors to put into the telephone business.

During the next five years, the Bell System must spend more money in Kentucky than ever before for additions and extensions to the telephone plant in Alabama, in order to keep pace with the telephone needs of the State.

This enormous sum of money must be obtained by the sale of securities or be borrowed in the money markets in competition with more profitable enterprises.

To interest investors, there must be assurance of a reasonable return on their money.

To produce this return there must be economical and efficient management, and a service so adequate and satisfactory that the public is willing to pay a fair rate for it.

WHEN INDUSTRY PROSPERS, LABOR THRIVES

EVERY artery of our economic life is now pulsating with renewed throbs of Prosperity. Francis I. Jones, Director General of the Federal Employment Service says: "Business conditions have improved to the extent that it is easier to get a job right now than at any time this year. The Pittsburgh Steel Co., has given employment to 6,000 additional hands; Fall River reports that seven mills of the American Printing Co., have gone back to full time work; Asheville, N. C., the cotton weaving center, reports the demand for unskilled labor cannot be met and the soft coal districts of Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia and Pennsylvania are rapidly approaching a condition of normal operation.

Elbert H. Gary states that the U. S. Steel Corporation is spending five million dollars a month for the balance of the year in extensions and improvements necessary to take care of the orders for railroad and building equipment.

America's prosperity is your prosperity if you grasp your opportunities and do your share in making opportunities for others.

Let's all do our share in greasing the wheels to keep Prosperity in motion—work faithfully; employ help liberally; buy freely, save intelligently—talk and act and perpetuate Prosperity.

POISON PAIR TO FACE GRAND JURY

Joint indictment is asked in Murder Conspiracy Night and Mrs. Sweetin.

Associated Press.

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., Oct. 7.—State's Attorney Thompson announced today that he intends to ask the grand jury when it convenes here Monday to return to joint murder indictment against Lawrence Hight, former Ina clergyman, and Mrs. Elsie Sweetin, confessed poison plotter who killed their mates that they might marry.

Both deaths were due to a conspiracy and the law recognizes no distinction between man and woman in such cases, the prosecutor stated. Hight has taken no steps to prepare a defense and has intimated several times that he intends to throw himself on the mercy of the court.

MINE ENTRANCES ARE DYNAMITED

Associated Press.

MALASTER, Okla., Oct. 7.—Gateways to mine number twelve of the Rock Island Coal and mining company near Hartsborne were dynamited last night and an attempt made to burn two railroad trestles leading to the mine. It became known today. The damage was slight. The incident aroused the mining field. No arrests have been made.

While the sheriff's force investigated the blast at the gateway, fire started at both trestles, neither of which was more than a half mile away. The mine has been operating part time, paying this year's wage scale approved by the miners' union but had announced the intention of opening other properties closed during the wage dispute under the 1917 scale and open shop.

Chevrolet Car Leaves on Long Endurance Test

Leaving the Evans-Ramey garage on Cumberland avenue at 8 o'clock this morning a Chevrolet stock touring car started its grueling 100 hour run which is scheduled to end at noon Saturday.

The engine of the car will be run continuously, the proprietors say, this including the night hours. Drivers will take shifts each four hours. While the car itself will make stops of a few minutes' duration, the engine will not stop.

How long will it run? How gas and oil will be used? These are questions which the public as well as the garage proprietors are interested in. The public is permitted to register guesses on how many miles will be covered on the endurance and economy test and a prize will be given to the winner. Guesses are registered at the Chevrolet salesroom.

Paint Stops Decay Reduces Repair Bills

It is a pretty well known fact that paint is a preservative. What science has preached, experience has confirmed. Paint used at regular intervals, is a relentless foe of decay, which, if unopposed, is certain. It lessens the upkeep of your property and reduces repairs to a minimum. Pee Gee Mastie Paint has been on the firing line over half a century protecting homes, barns, and outbuildings. Its great covering capacity and long years of service have become a proverb—"Wear like Mastie." You hear it whenever good paint is talked of. ### GYPSIES DANCE IN UNIQUE FETE

Bulgarian Village Meets for Nomadic Individuals—Picturesque Meeting.

By Associated Press.
DRAGALEVSTI, Bulgaria, Oct. 7.—The old monastery in this village a little slope of Mount Vitosha, near Sofia, was the gathering place the other day of many thousands of gypsies. They arrived on horseback, on donkey back or on foot. During the night their bivouac fires twinkled all over the mountain side.

From many towns and villages in the Sofia district they arrived to celebrate the fete day of St. Mary the Virgin, which the gypsies observe more ardently than the Christians, despite the fact that the day marks an event in a religion they do not profess.

At nightfall the enclosure in the old monastery began to fill with men and women of dark complexion and great vivacity. The women were picturesque in their baggy trousers of bright colored calico. Having cooked their stews, they seated themselves around the steaming pots, each person dipping up the food with a wooden spoon.

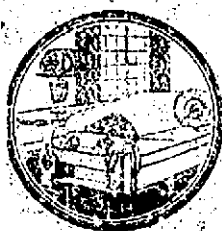

Many a horse deal, it is suspected, was closed while the traders broke the black loaves of bread together. The feasting and talking went on all night, till fires began to be blotted out and the dawn appeared over the Sofia plain.

It was then that the main event of the gathering took place. The gypsies started the dance as the sun was peeping over the distant mountains, men and women holding hands and dancing in long lines while the violin worked industriously in minor keys.

Ring Up the Curtain on - WOMEN'S FASHIONS for FALL & WINTER

By Muriel Townley

SLENDER and straight — for many a season now, straight lines of youth and simplicity have been our aim. But each season has its own means of achieving this result.

We saw a few beltless frocks last summer, and as though Fashion, having tried them out, noddled her approval, they are to be better than ever this fall. They are exceptionally becoming and doubtless women of taste and knowledge of dress will be enthusiastic supporters of fashion's dictum.

Another new style to be seen on many a charming new frock is the tunic. Sometimes these tunics are only to the knee, at others they are within two or three inches of the bottom of the skirt.

The Tunic Is Here

So many of these tunics are worn that as might be expected there is a great variation in the details of their smartness. Some are straight and almost as tight as the undershirt. Others are quite as tight as the undershirt and slashed up the side.

However, the most popular of all is the tunic which comes to within six or seven inches of the undershirt and varies from a little soft fullness to quite a decided circular flare.

Of course not every dress is beltless. But when a dress is worn there is a growing tendency to make it a more important part of the costume than the little strings we have been wearing. A suede belt about four or five inches wide is quite the newest. For sports wear these belts are seen in the brightest of reds and greens, but for wear with darker frocks the whole scale of colors from dark brown to a light tan, grey and a soft green are very popular.

Skirts are definitely shorter. With the slim straight line which leads the mode today a long dress is really very ungainly and unbecoming. So charm has won as we are back once more to the youthful, practical and comfortable short skirt. This year's skirt reaches from about six to eight inches below the knee.

Bengaline Again This promises to be a season when silk frocks will be worn a great deal. Silk frocks in simpler modes for morning as well as afternoon wear. Bengaline and faille are the favorites. Ribbed silks are leading the mode in every possible interpretation—ribbed silk blouses, ribbed silk blouses and even ribbed silk purses. It is a pleasure to chance. We have been wearing crepe satin, flat crepe and crepe satin, flut crepe and crepe de chine for so long that we might as well have forgotten there were any other silks. So these fine little ribs seem all the more charming because of their novelty.

Evening Frocks

For evening and more formal wear, crepe satin will still be the most popular for there is something too informal about ribbed silk to use it for anything but rather simple tailored modes.

We may have flirted with dainty airy little chiffon frocks this past summer because they gave such a cool, floating look on warm summer nights. But when winter comes with its more elaborate parties, metal fabrics, metal brocades and rich printed velvets interpret the evening mode.

Rich brocades and jacquard fashion many a stunning model designed for the more elaborate afternoon functions.

The popularity of the silk frock can never take away the becoming charm of the smart cloth frock particularly for early fall. When the first fall days have a slight chill in the air how wonderfully attractive a woman looks in a smartly cut, modish dark cloth frock. It is too becoming a style to even think of neglecting it. This fall rep is seen in many stunning frocks with twill as a close second competing with it for popular favor.

Squares or Braids Used

Simplicity is the keynote of the trimmings. In many cases squares or bands of the material are used and there are rows and rows of braid. Now and then some of the models have a lovely bit of gay colorful embroidery to relieve the monotone.

But buttons are to be seen everywhere. It hardly seems as though there could be enough buttons in the world to satisfy the demands of the smart frocks. Buttons of all types and descriptions. Buttons running from the neck to the hemline; buttons down each side from the hips to the hemline; buttons around the hemline. It almost seems as though any dress which bristles with buttons is smart.

Favored Trimmings

On more elaborate costumes embroidery, in lovely soft tones, silk. Yes, the sleeve has definitely returned to favor. The sleeveless frock is now seen only for rather formal occasions. The new sleeve is long, gently tapering from the shoulder to a close fitting cuff.

The Ensemble Suit

The newest suit is the ensemble with a long coat a coat which reaches to within five or six inches of the bottom of the skirt. It is worn sometimes over a silk tunic blouse which is exactly the same length as the coat or over a silk dress with a narrow band of the coat material at the bottom. These suits are splendid for fall wear for when one takes of the coat one is suitably dressed in a becoming silk frock.
